“I have a passion for history, culture, and politics. I plan to major in history during undergraduate study. My favorite concentrations to study are Ancient East Asian culture, Middle Eastern history, and social revolutions. Additionally, I love environmental science. Environmental Conservation is a huge passion of mine and I hope to dedicate my life to environmental sustainability.”

This is what he has to say about his interest in History:

“History is important to me because it can explain the complexities of modern society. By understanding the intricacies of past civilizations, the complexities of the modern era are solvable.”
